

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Crown Prince of Monaco.

Joseph Chamberlain.

Captain J. M. Bowyer, of the United States Navy.

Captain S. P. Comly, of the United States Navy.

Commander W. B. Caperton, United States Navy.

Grand Duke of Baden, who will attend King George's coronation.

Prince Ferdinand, of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha, married to a sister of King Alfonso, who will attend the coronation of King George.

The Earl of Sefton. He was born in 1871, served as master of the horse for King George in 1905 to 1907. He will be prominent in the King's coronation.

Earl of Aberdeen, Lord-Lieutenant of Ireland, who will be one of the conspicuous figures at King George's coronation.

Commander Albert P. Niblack, naval attaché, United States Navy. Headquarters Buenos Ayres, Argentina.

Major A. V. Fawcett, of Tacoma, Washington. Major Fawcett holds a unique position among municipalities by many of his reformed measures, among other measures he had an ordinance passed prohibiting treating.

The Earl of Clancarty, whose engagement to Miss Mary Gwatkin, has been recently announced. This is a fine photograph of the earl in robes, and is one his lordship prefers for publication purposes.

Lord Charles Fitzmaurice, who was recently married to Lady Violet Elliott, at Calcutta, India. They are on their way to England.

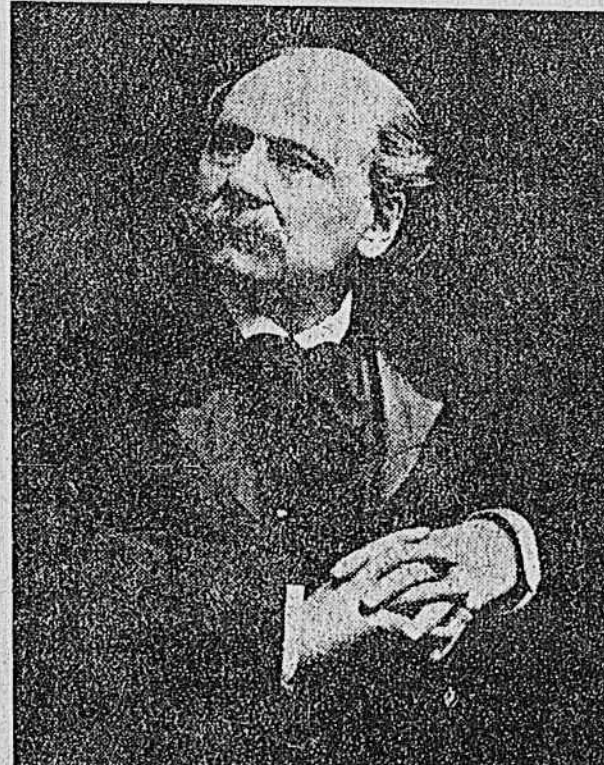

Captain Frank Bartlett, Naval Academy, United States Navy, Annapolis, head of the Steam Engineering Department.

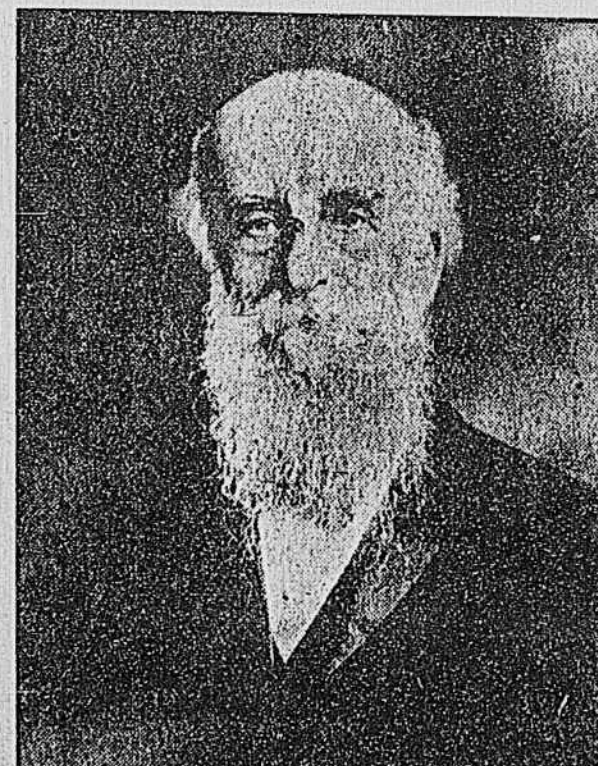

This picture of Dr. Reginald Farrar was taken by our staff photographer before he sailed for China, February 12. Dr. Farrar is the English representative of the International Commission of Doctors, who has been sent to China to organize a vast campaign against the plague now raging.

Captain Cameron Melt Winslow, of the United States Navy, stationed at New York City.

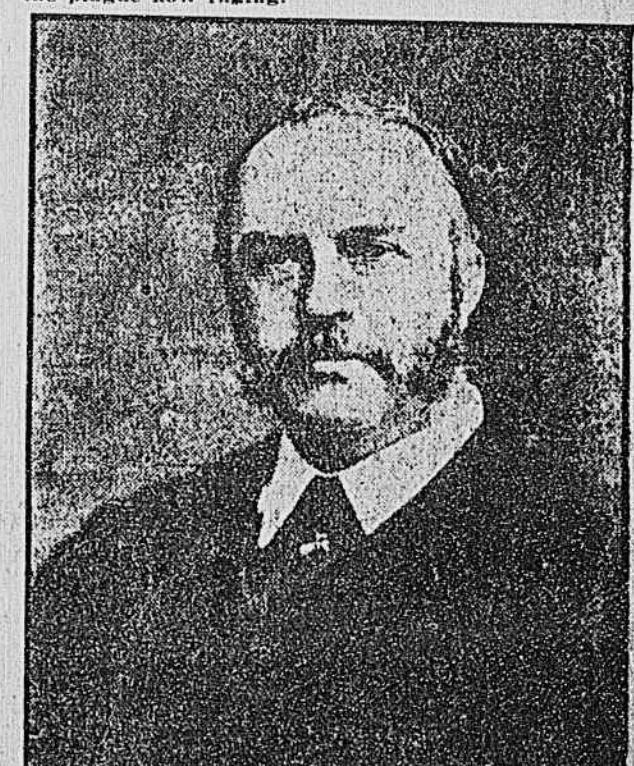

M. Jules Massenet.

Dr. Lyman Abbott, the veteran editor of the Outlook.

Commander Frank W. Kellogg, of the battleship Indiana.

Lord Halford, who will take in the King's coronation.